Subject: Energy in the Northeast Conference

Mr. Bartl,

We are pleased to announce our annual conference on "Energy in the Northeast," Oct. 16 & 17, 2006. This conference explores the practical conditions that are leading to success or failure in the Northeast for a range of energy options. It features an outstanding faculty of energy lawyers, executives, and governmental leaders who will address current challenges in the Northeast as new projects weave a path through transmission and capacity markets, dramatically different state policies and incentives, security concerns and the politics of development. Here is an opportunity for an important update on key energy developments in the Northeast for all energy professionals. Sign up soon. Please view registration and information here.
